Creating Interactive Charts

Interactive Charting features an easy-to-use interface that allows you to create flexible charts depicting company and non-company data. Quickly find chart options and customizable features in the left pane, which is broken out into four sections: Charts, Plot Options, Drawings, and Chart Labels. For a guided tour covering the basics of Interactive Charting, launch the eLearning series on Online Assistant page 17276.

Enter or search for an identifier(s) to begin creating your chart. You can include multiple identifiers by selecting the "Graph All Identifiers" check box. Also, click the Lock button to lock your selected identifier in the current chart.

Create and organize chart lists with the Chart List Editor under the Charts section. Click the Chart List Tools button, and then select "Manage Chart Lists."

Easily select index/relative functionality at the plot level with the Plot Options pane or add/delete/change a plot's series. You can also enter a comparison identifier here.

TIP: Read about the latest updates for Interactive Charting in the "Charting" category of FactSet Notify. Click the category's envelope icon to receive email alerts.

Add new series using type-ahead searching by clicking the + Series button. Click the Chart Options button to set advanced date options, Y axis settings, annotation options, and more.

Print a chart/chart list or export charts in a variety of formats by going to Tools > Print/Export.

Easily show line labels at the end of each series or series statistics for each chart plot by customizing your labels in the the Chart Labels pane.
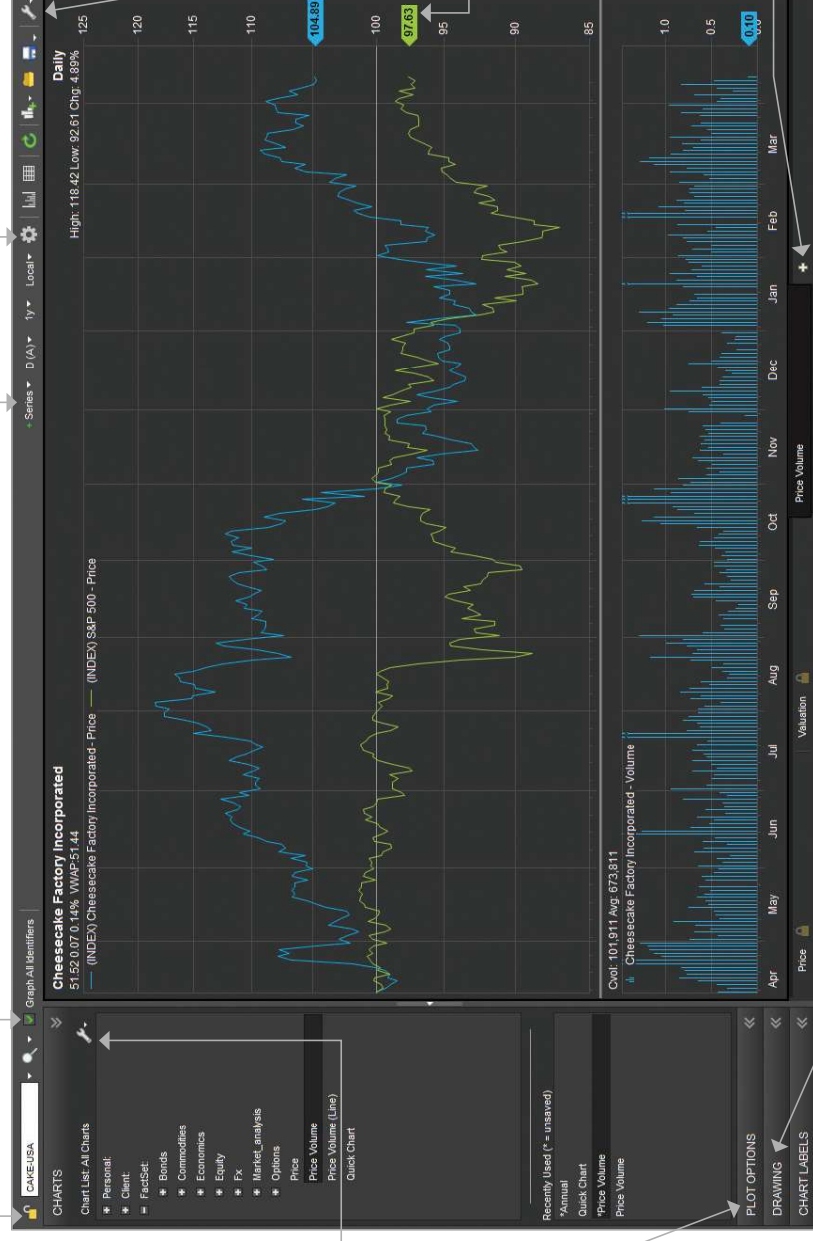

Use the Drawing pane to add chart drawings, including trendlines, horizontal rules, Fibonacci retracements, and much more. For more information on each drawing tool, see Online Assistant page 17583.

Click the + icon to open or create a new chart.

TIP: Double-click on any of the plot titles to quickly change the chart's header labels.
